

Comparing Recent and Older Refugee Migration in and to Europe – Sociological Perspectives

Joint conference of the Sections “Sociology of Europe” and “Migration and Ethnic Minorities” of the German Sociological Association (DGS)

2-3 March 2023

Otto-Friedrich-Universität Bamberg

-- Preliminary program --

THURSDAY, 2 MARCH

13:30-13:45 Welcome and introduction

13:45-15:15 Refugee discourses and governance

Esther van Lüeck, Hazal Budak-Kim & Manja Dimitra Kotsas (Kiel University): Flexible solidarity. Differences in Germany's stance on refugees

Sara Bojarczuk & Anita Brzozowska (University of Warsaw): Forced migrants from Ukraine as ‘good migrants’. The role of employers in (re)shaping the discourse and public policies targeting desirable refugees in Poland and Germany

Noa Milman (German Center for Integration and Migration Research): Discourse, policy and practices of migration management, gender equality and welfare in Denmark

15:15-15:45 Coffee break

15:45-17:15 Integration into the labor market, welfare state and educational system (Part 1)

Lyun Wan (University of Strasbourg & Goethe University Frankfurt): The effects of reception policies on the integration of Syrian refugee families in France and Germany

Katrin Menke (Ruhr-University Bochum): Between Strategies and Policies. Qualitative findings on labour market participation in the life course of refugee women in Germany.

Frankseco Yorke (Stockholm University): Residential location and the educational performance of Swedish-born children whose parents obtained refugee status in Sweden

17:15-18:00 Dissertation Prize, Section “Migration and Ethnic Minorities”

19:00 Dinner at “Pizzeria Salino”, Schillerplatz 11

FRIDAY, 3 MARCH

9:00-10:00 Integration into the labor market, welfare state and educational system (Part 2)

Emily Frank (Humboldt University Berlin): Red Tape & Refugees: Administrative Burden in Welfare State Access for Refugees in Germany

Nora Ratzmann, Katarina Mozetic, Larissa Kokonowskyj (German Center for Integration and Migration Research): Ukrainian Refugees' Experiences with the German State. Welcome to stay or compelled to go?

10:00-10:30 Coffee break

10:30-12:30 Refugees' values, socio-demographic characteristics and networks

Dario Portong (Berlin Social Science Center): Liberal-democratic orientations and religious fundamentalism among Muslim and Christian immigrants in Germany: Diverging patterns in value acculturation

Bernhard Riederer, Isabelle Buber-Ennser, Ingrid Setz, Judith Kohlenberger & Bernhard Rengs (University of Vienna & Vienna University of Economics and Business): Comparing recent and previous refugee cohorts in Austria: Attitudes and Values of Ukrainians, Syrians and Afghans

Nadja Milewski, Andreas Ette, Jean Décieux & Martin Bujard (Federal Institute for Population Research): Recent Ukrainian refugees in Germany: Regional origin, gendered flight constellations, and intentions for family reunion

Lenore Sauer, Ludovica Gambaro, Elisabeth Kraus (Federal Institute for Population Research): Transnational emotional support networks of recently arrived refugees in Germany: variations by gender and country of origin

12:30-13:30 Lunch break

13:30-15:00 The role of street level bureaucrats and civil society actors

Katja Hartosch, Peter Kupka, Christopher Osiander, Angela Rauch & Franziska Schreyer (Institute for Employment Research): Activating Integration Policies, Job Centres and Mental Health of Refugees in Germany. Presenting an Interdisciplinary Mixed Methods Approach

Lena Laube & Maria Ulrich (Bonn University): Search and rescue in the Mediterranean and the struggle over the reception of refugees in the EU

Ulrike Bialas (Max Planck Institute for the Study of Religious and Ethnic Diversity): Unaccompanied Minors and their Legal Guardians: A Microcosm of Encounters between Refugees and Germans

15:00-15:30 Wrap-up

Conference Location

Bamberg Graduate School of Social Sciences

Room FG1/00.08

Feldkirchenstr. 21, 96052 Bamberg

<https://www.uni-bamberg.de/sowi/anreiseoeffnungszeiten/>